In only its second year, Charleston Fashion Week 2008 was a hugely-popular, nearly sold-out series of events. With giant tents taking over Marion Square and nightly shows from the city's most stylin' merchants and designers, CFW brought out Charleston's beautiful people in droves. Necks craned to see the leggy models sparkling on the runway, not to mention the impeccably-dressed fashionistas in the crowd. We can't wait for Fashion Week 2009: March 24-28, baby!
